PRODUCTION MANAGEMENT SOLUTIONS

Project management and technology to streamline production workflows

We provide complete production management solutions that can easily be tailored to meet each publisher's unique needs.

Through different combinations of people and technology, we help professional, academic, STM and legal publishers streamline processes, improve editorial quality, cut turnaround times and reduce costs.

Publishing Project Managers

Our team consists of highly skilled and trained professionals with extensive experience in production and publishing project management.

Lanstad

Lanstad is a uniquely centralised publishing production platform, featuring a collaborative project management workspace which enables real-time XML editing, proofing and content transformation. The platform also features trackable project milestones, a communication portal and digital asset management capacity, with metadata integrated to ONIX standards.

Publisher's Production Staff

Our strong focus on relationships allows a seamless integration of the publisher's production staff with our publishing project managers, as they work together on our Cloud-based platform.
